BIG DATA REPRESENTS MAJOR OPPORTUNITY TO IMPROVE HEALTH, LOWER COSTS

Oregon has the opportunity to improve the health of its residents and lower health care costs by using big data to inform the decision-making of providers, patients, and policymakers. The presence of leading research institutions, major tech companies, and high-impact philanthropic organizations position Oregon to drive innovation in this space.

What impact does technology have on your health? What about your genetic code? Your zip code?

In the Summit's morning main stage program Dr. Danny Jacobs, president of OHSU, will discuss how non-traditional data combined with top-notch medical care can have a huge impact on the health and well-being of Oregonians, and how novel public-private partnerships can potentially deliver on the promise of big data in health care.

THIS YEAR'S SUMMIT STRESSES THE LONG GAME

The Leadership Summit returns to a strong focus on economic development. It asks, how can we shape our economic strategy for the long term to lift up all Oregonians and support strong, healthy communities? In particular, how can we navigate large trends shaping our economy and lives? These include changing demographics, growth in global markets, accelerating technologies, and a warming planet. How do we position our enterprises and policies to deal with these challenges and opportunities? In doing so, how can we make sure that opportunity and prosperity are shared among Oregonians more broadly and inclusively?

Please join Oregon business, public, and thought leaders in this important dialogue, and its implications for such policy issues as education, health care, natural resources, poverty, housing, and other topics.

Onsite Registration/Check-in, 7:30 a.m.
Event, 8:30 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.
Reception, 5:00 p.m.
